REASONS TO INVEST IN SELF-STORAGE

“In bad times it’s good and in good times it’s better.”

- ALAN MRUVKA -

THERE ARE FOUR INDUSTRY ‘D’S THAT DRIVE SELF-STORAGE

DEATH

When a person passes away, they clearly no longer need to worry about their belongings, but their loved ones do.

DIVORCE

In most cases, divorce results in one of the partners moving out of the home.

Self-storage helps them keep their belongings somewhere safe and they don't have to remain in the old home.

DISPLACEMENT

Losing one's home is a real possibility and when it happens, it causes a lot of problems.

Self-storage can be a big help, giving them somewhere to keep their belongings at an affordable price while they figure out where to live.

DOWNSIZING

To keep their new places from becoming overly cluttered, many rent extra spaces.

Another reason that falls into the downsizing category includes seasonal items such as clothes and sports equipment.

WE ADDED 2 MORE

DISEASE

After the Pandemic, the Industry added a fifth D.

COVID gave people a year-long chance to do a spring cleaning plus people cleared out their second bedrooms to create home office space.

DeBLASIO

We added a sixth D for NY/NJ Metropolitan area.

In 2018 NY Mayor De Blasio put a freeze on converting manufacturing and warehouse buildings into self-storage in the five boroughs. This has caused the five boroughs of New York to be severely underserved when it comes to self-storage. StorageBlue, being the biggest brand in North Jersey, has been taking advantage of the underserved New York market by offering free pick up from the five boroughs.

POTENTIAL EXIT STRATEGIES

Opportunities to acquire extensive portfolios in this industry are infrequent. Institutional investors aim for a solitary deal that includes numerous assets generating steady cash flow. Fierce competition among buyers for dependable cash flow from attractive asset categories elevates prices. Funds composed of high-grade institutional assets are most appealing to significant private equity firms, sovereign wealth funds, REITs, and pension funds, with an IPO as a viable exit option.

STORAGEBLUE COMPANY OVERVIEW

“You can’t match the passion for success as in a Founder-driven company.”

- ALAN MRUVKA -

COMPANY OVERVIEW

StorageBlue is a New Jersey based self-storage brand with a 35+ year successful track record of building and operating self-storage facilities. StorageBlue operates, through StorageBlue Management LLC, a portfolio of properties in New Jersey and New York.

StorageBlue is the successor company to American Self Storage, a 17 building, 3 million square foot self-storage company that also had buildings in New York and New Jersey, of which Mr. Mruvka and his father, Murray Mruvka, owned 50%.

As a partner in American Self Storage from 1989 through 2015, Mr. Mruvka was active in the acquisition, development, construction and management of the 17 self-storage facilities. In 2015, the majority of the American Self Storage facilities were sold off and the rest split up between Mr. Mruvka and his partners and StorageBlue, a new generation of self-storage, was born.

Prior to a recent sale, StorageBlue held 13 facilities, all located in what we believe to be the most valuable self-storage market in the United States, the New Jersey / New York City Metropolitan area.

For example, Manhattan Mini Storage's recent sale of 17 facilities was for $2.5 billion.

It is StorageBlue's plan to keep expanding and focusing primarily in this market and into other emerging and underserved markets such as Miami, Las Vegas, Texas, Los Angeles and select locations around the world.

StorageBlue's Chief Executive Officer, Alan Mruvka, has over 35 years of experience in the self-storage industry. He is also the founder and former 14 year CEO of E! Entertainment Television, a network now owned by Comcast NBC Universal and worth over $15 Billion.
